WEDNESDAY EVENING, FEB. 18, 1880.

THE DIGNITY OF LABOR. Those who toil to earn their bread Need not blush to own their lot : They in noble footsteps tread. And a claim to live have got. Toil is not the wage of sin, For in Eden work was given Man was made to work and win

He who at the anvil stands Striking while the iron glows. Though he works with horny hands. Nobly strikes the ringing blows. At the loom, and in the field, In the shop and on the soil,

Spoils of earth and bliss of heaven

Where men wisely power wield, * There is dignity in toil. He who works with throbbing brain, Thinks to teach men how to live:

Writes that others good may gain, Speaks to truth fresh zest to give. He can claim the manly right With the sons of toil to stand: He asserts his mental might.

Helps to bless his native land

He who lives a life of case, Idly wasting all his days-Aiming only self to please, Filled with pride and courting praise-

Call him not a noble man, Such existence is a shame: And when ends life's black span. Soon will die his empty name.

Labor brings reward and rest. Educates the latent powers: And he serves his age the best Who employs the golden hour-Working not beyond his might. Toiling not against his will. And beneath his master's sight

Glad his mission to fulfil. All things labor for our good. He who made us never sleeps: He who tills the ground for food. For his pains a harvest reaps, None who work need feel ashamed

As they do what good they can : 'Tis an honor to be named.

As we toil, " A workingman."

Maryland's Oyster Beds.

With the exception of Virginia, there is no state of the Union that can compare with Maryland in the extent and value of her oyster beds. From the immense supplies of this delicious bivalve that are annually drawn from their waters, and which every year is taxing their produc tiveness more and more heavily, the systematic working of these beds is becoming a matter of serious consequence. The oyster laws enacted for their protection have proved a failure, while the revenue derived from this source has been madequate to the support of the oyster navy, and made it an additional source of expense to the state. Our outgoing and incoming governors have both called attention to this subject and recommended that the navy be reorganized on a different and, it is to be hoped, and more efficient basis. The depredations upon our oyster beds continue to a more or less extent, and a paragraph in the Sun the other day stated that about seventy-five vessels were observed at one point violating the dredging law. The penalties incurred when arrests are made are not of the proper character, as they let the vessel go, while the poor employees are held, not only to their individual loss, but at the cost of the counties. There is thus a proper want of method in what has been done for the protection of our oyster beds, and adequate and more practical remedies must soon be found, or the exhaustion of the beds from the extraordinary annual draft upon them will follow as a natural consequence. and what is now an important industry, employing thousands of people on water and on land, may gradually become a thing of the past. Instead of husbanding this natural source of wealth, we are squandering it. Properly managed it might be made to bring in a handsome revenue to the state. There are many persons who consider, as the late Henry Λ . Wise did with respect to Virginia, that our use fisheries should be regarded as much a part of our taxable basis as our farms or our mines. In any event, the taking of oysters should be regulated by law. Not upon it is so regulated that it shall not be in excess of the yearly increase. To do this understandingly it will be necessary to have the beds accurately surveyed and mapped out, and their productive capacity estimated. The mapping of the beds in a general way has, we learn, been attempted by our Maryland fish commission, but it has no such data as would indicate the acquired, it would not be difficult to get at the annual oyster supply, and by closing a part of the beds from year to year for reproduction, and restricting the dredging could be maintained. A Cross Baby. Nothing is so conducive to a man's remain- guarantee of the perfectly satisfactory charing a bachelor as stopping for one night at the house of a married friend and being kept awake for five or six hours by the crying of a cross baby. All cross and crying babies need only Hop Bitters to make them well and smil-

H. H. WARNER & CO., ROCHESTER, N. Y.—GENTLEMEN: "A lady of over seventy years of age, in failing health for over a year, has been using Warner's Safe Bitters on my recommendation. She feels very grateful for the benefit she has derived therefrom, and says that until she used it her stomach could bear no vegetable food for over three years. I believe it to be a certain specific for dyspepsia.

as to seasons, the existing law already covers that point; but as to the particular ISFACTION, we are now prepared to furnish beds on which dredging shall be allowed Check Books, Letter Heads, Note Heads, Stateeach year, and as regards the quantity ments, Bill Heads, all sizes, Notes of all kinds, of oysters to be taken from them Contract Books, Receipt Books, Order Books, annually in the public waters. Our oyster and, in fact any kind of work in which binding supply is not inexhaustible, and it is the is necessary printed on the very best paper at duty of the state to take care that the drain the lowest figures. This invention, for the use of which we have obtained the sole right in Lancaster city and county, enables us to bind the above named or any other kind of blank and memoranda books at the cost of printing alone, and in a style that for neatness and durability is not equalled by any other device of a similar character. During the time that Reynolds's Metallic Stationery and Book Binder has been before the publie it has acquired a high reputation among printers and others who have had occasion to make use of it, for the extreme simplicity of its construction and the case and accuracy of its operation, while business men and others whose experience enables them to speak where to others, the permanency of the supply of they know pronounce its work to be superior in the essential points of cheapness, convenience and durability to that of the old process, and we are willing to give our patrons a > acter of its work. Specimens of Binding may be seen at the Ix-TELLIGENCER office, and all persons desiring a neat and substantial piece of work in this line are invited to call and inspect the numerous advantages we have to offer, and which enable us to turn out Good and Durable Work at prices lower than any other printing establishment in the city.
